Latin Name : Litsea Cubeba Part Of Plant Used : Fruit Source : China Extraction Method : Steam Distillation This May Chang Essential Oil is a very uplifting and stimulating oil and useful during times of fatigue, melancholy and anxiety. Used to create a cheering ambience when diffused. Traditionally used as a digestive aid May Chang can help with poor digestion and stimulate the appetite. May chang essential oil has refreshing, stimulating and uplifting action, which makes it perfect for relieving fatigue and lethargic psychological states. And because this oil is a tonic to the nervous system it makes it ideal for clearing your head when you are feeling anxious, stressed or befuddled. It has surprisingly good antiseptic, antifungal and antiviral properties too, which can be used to help keep coughs, colds and athlete's foot at bay. It's also great for cleansing jobs around the home such as sterilizing kitchen worktops. To boost its effectiveness, blend may chang with tea tree and you'll have a powerful cleansing action without the unpleasant disinfectant-like aroma.
