Short Description

Bromelain and Papain are natural proteases (enzymes that break down proteins) found in pineapples and papayas respectively. Each Lindens Bromelain and Papain tablet provides 10mg of bromelain and 6.7mg of papain plus 120mg of Calcium Carbonate to support the normal function of digestive enzymes.

Description

- Natural proteases (protein-digesting enzymes)
- Found naturally in pineapples and papaya
- Convenient easy swallow tablets
- Supports normal function of digestive enzymes

Bromelain and Papain are effective natural proteases, enzymes that digest proteins. They occur naturally in pineapples and papayas respectively and are so effective that they are often used in cooking to make meat more tender.

They were first discovered in the investigation of the traditional use of pineapple among the natives of Central and South America. Lindens Bromelain & Papain Tablets each contain 10mg and 6.7mg of bromelain and papain respectively plus 120mg of Calcium Carbonate to support the normal function of digestive enzymes in a convenient, easy swallow tablet.
